Dear Parents and Carers,

I am writing to clarify our existing and continuing expectation regarding pupils' hair.

Hair that is longer than chin length must be tied back throughout the school day. All of the hair must be tied back not just the top section with a dark coloured, plain hair band or scrunchie. If children have shorter sections of hair near the front due to layering, they may use small, plain hair clips to secure these sections. Fringes are perfectly fine but please ensure that your child can see beneath their fringe.

We feel that this is the best approach for a primary school to take for many reasons. These include:

- The need to minimise/reduce the spread of head lice
- Health and Safety
- The need to limit distractions within lessons
- To ensure smart presentation in line with our uniform policy

This expectation applies across all classes and if children do not have their hair tied back, they will be asked by staff to tie it back. We will have spare hair bands in school in case children do not have their own. We will help children to tie their hair back if they cannot do it themselves.

Kind Regards,

GDay
